Teacher's Choice Book--Reflective Journal #1

This entry should include observations on the following literary elements: character and/or setting. Be sure that you are responding to what you are reading or thinking about what you are reading, and not just summarizing about these two elements of literature. Journals can be filled out as you are reading or once you have finished the book. For full credit you are expected to fill up the entire space and write in complete sentences. Your journals will be collected and assessed. If you need a review on the literary elements mentioned above, please visit the summer reading page.

Teacher's Choice Book--Reflective Journal #2

This entry should include observations on the following literary elements: conflict and/or theme. Be sure that you are responding to what you are reading or thinking about what you are reading, and not just summarizing about these two elements of literature. Journals can be filled out as you are reading or once you have finished the book. For full credit you are expected to fill up the entire space and write in complete sentences. Your journals will be collected and assessed. If you need a review on the literary elements mentioned above, please visit the summer reading page.

Teacher's Choice Book--Reflective Journal #3

This entry should include observations on the following literary elements: symbolism and/or point of view. Be sure that you are responding to what you are reading or thinking about what you are reading, and not just summarizing about these two elements of literature. Journals can be filled out as you are reading or once you have finished the book. For full credit you are expected to fill up the entire space and write in complete sentences. Your journals will be collected and assessed. If you need a review on the literary elements mentioned above, please visit the summer reading page.